17 The board of directors' proposal for guiding principles concerning remuneration and other terms of employment for senior executives

The board of directors of NIBE Industrier AB (publ) proposes that the Annual General Meeting decides to adopt the following guiding principles.

Subject and field of application of the guidelines

These guidelines shall apply to the corporate group of NIBE's senior executives, which consist of the managing director/CEO, financial director/CFO and the three business area managers. These guidelines shall also apply regarding remuneration (for example consultant's fee), if any, for work carried out by a board member, in addition to the board assignment, for the corporate group of NIBE or one of its group companies. Unless otherwise stated below, the guidelines do not apply to the board member remuneration, which are determined by the Annual General Meeting.

The guidelines shall promote the business strategy, long-term interests and sustainability of the company

In short, NIBE's business strategy is to provide world-class sustainable energy solutions. For more information regarding the company's business strategy, visit www.nibe.com. A successful implementation of the company's business strategy and the procurement of NIBE's long-term interests, including its sustainability, rely on NIBE's ability to attract and retain a management that is highly qualified and with the capacity to reach stated goals. Thus, it is a prerequisite that the company can offer remuneration terms that are competitive. These guidelines enable NIBE to offer remuneration to senior executives on market terms and to be competitive in order to attract and retain personnel.

Types of remuneration

Remuneration may be paid as fixed salary, variable salary, pension and other benefits such as car benefit.

Board fees shall not be paid to senior executives, who are employed in the group.

All senior executives, who have not reached the age of 65, shall have retirement benefits corresponding to the defined benefit ITP-plan (supplementary pensions for salaried employees) (SW: ITP-planen), section 2, for salary parts up to 30 income base amounts (SW: inkomstbasbelopp). For salary parts exceeding 30 income base amounts, a premium with a fixed percentage of 30% shall be paid, in accordance with the same principles as in the ITP-plan with fixed premium, section 1. The retirement premiums may, in total, amount to a maximum of 35% of the total remuneration. Senior executives, who have reached the age of 65, are not entitled to retirement benefits.

Other benefits, i.a. medical insurance, life insurance and car benefit, may, in total, amount to a maximum of 5% of the total remuneration.

Criteria for payment of variable remuneration

Senior executives shall as incentive be able to obtain a variable salary part, which is paid if the goals that have been set are met. These goals are set by the board of directors and shall be measurable and predetermined, e.g. percentage growth, operating margin and working capital reduction. The goals are set for one financial year at a time. By rewarding clear and measurable performance linked to the company's financial and operational development, the goals set shall promote to motivate the senior executives to achieve the company's goals regarding business strategies, long-term interests and sustainability.

The variable salary part shall be limited to four monthly salaries. In addition thereto, an extra monthly salary may be paid as remuneration, provided that the senior executive uses this extra remuneration and an additional monthly salary of his/her variable remuneration for acquisition of NIBE-shares. A condition for the extra remuneration is that the senior executive keeps the annually acquired NIBE-shares for at least three years. If the condition is not met, the company is entitled to recover this part of the remuneration. The purpose of the extra remuneration for acquisition of NIBE-shares is to increase the senior executives' long-term interests in the company and hence promote the company's business strategy, long-term interests and sustainability. Normally, the senior executives' acquisition of NIBE-shares will be made once a year in February/March, with regard to applicable market abuse legislation. The managing director shall not be included in any incentive program.

Termination of employment

Senior executives shall be employed for an indefinite or fixed term.

Upon termination by the company, the term of notice for the managing director shall be six months. The managing director shall be entitled to severance payment corresponding to twelve monthly salaries.

Other senior executives shall receive salary during the term of notice, which varies between 6-12 months.

There shall be no special agreement stating that senior executives may terminate their employment before they have reached retirement age and until then receive a certain part of their salary.

Consideration of salary and terms of employment when preparing the guidelines

When preparing the board of directors' proposal for these guidelines, the average salary and terms of employment of the employees at the Swedish companies within the NIBE group have been taken into account. This has been achieved by obtaining information regarding the employees' average salary and terms of employment as well as rate of increase of remuneration over time during the employment at NIBE. A very important additional factor has been the group's growth, with regard to the turnover as well as the result. Moreover, comparison has been made with other Swedish listed companies of the same size. This information has been part of the board of directors' decision-making documentation in order to evaluate the reasonableness of the guidelines.

Fees for consultancy services performed by board members

The company's board members elected by the Annual General Meeting may in special cases be remunerated for consultancy services within their respective fields of competence, which do not constitute the board assignment, for a limited time. For these services, remuneration shall be offered on market terms.

How these guidelines have been prepared

These guidelines have been prepared by the board of directors. The managing director and the other senior executives have not participated in the board of directors' preparations and decisions regarding these guidelines.

The guidelines are subject to annual review through personal contact by the chairman of the board with the major shareholders.

Deviation from these guidelines

The board of directors may deviate from the guidelines as regards pension, bonus and other benefits if there are particular grounds for a deviation in a special case and if it is necessary in order to meet the company's long-term interests and sustainability or to ensure the company's financial viability.

The presence of significant changes

The proposal for guidelines is in line with the guidelines approved at the Annual General Meeting in 2021. The annual review of the guidelines has not resulted in any significant changes.
